Linear B

47 Highpoint
North Hill
London N6.

18 June 52

Dear Bennett,

I'm sorry to inflict another letter on you so soon after my last one, but I have, I think, great news for you. You must judge for yourself, but I think I've deciphered Linear B, & that Knossos & Pylos are both in Greek. Rather than go into great detail just now, I'll try & give you a representative transliteration of the most interesting tablets. I won't bother to write the Minoan & the actual phonetic values I'll put on the attached table. You'll see that the whole crux of the transliteration lies in the fact that L & R have no separate spelling, & that -L, -N, -R, -S & Diphthongal -l are not written when they close a syllable. This is one stage worse than the Cypriot syllabary, & perhaps comes from the nature of the Linear A Language.

Opening of the letter from the British architect Michael Ventris to the American Classicist Emmett L. Bennett, Jr., in New Haven, announcing the decipherment of Linear B as Greek. The manuscript is stored in the archives of the PROGRAM IN AEGEAN SCRIPTS AND PREHISTORY (PASP) at The University of Texas at Austin.
